

NIGC Announces Formation of a Technical Standards/MICS Tribal Advisory Committee and Calls for Nominations of Committee Members

Washington, DC, August 10, 2011 — The National Indian Gaming Commission (NIGC/Commission) announced today that it is forming a Tribal Advisory Committee (TAC) to assist in the review of Minimum Internal Control Standards and Technical Standards. A thorough examination of the MICS and Technical Standards is an essential element of the regulatory review initiative that the Commission began in November, 2010. The Commission believes a TAC would provide valuable input and practical insight to the regulatory review initiative. "During the 11 consultations held since April, Tribes have expressed their concern with how the Commission will review the MICS. We want to ensure that our review of this very technical area is comprehensive and results in well-informed decision-making." Chairwoman Stevens explained. "Technical regulations such as the MICS and Technical Standards should draw from the expertise of tribal regulators so that the Commission may arrive at fully considered and informed rules."

Tribes are asked to nominate tribal representatives for membership on the TAC by September 16, 2011. TAC members will serve for one year but the NIGC anticipates the TAC's work to be completed by March 31, 2011 in order for a final rule to be issued in late summer 2012.

Representatives must be available for the TAC Inaugural Meeting scheduled for October 18-20, 2011 as well as five additional monthly meetings as follows:
